

toric sites, and archaeological or architectural sites or property. A planned community will tend to concentrate development in areas where water, sewer, and other community facilities are/or can be available.